

COMMON PROBLEM #8:

Teams are Missing Key Deadlines or Performance Goals

Situation: It could be a marketing campaign, service program or software implementation. Deadlines come and go without real progress. Critical opportunities are being missed, impacting not only revenues but the entire organization's reputation. You're pretty sure that technology isn't the problem. Something needs to be done soon, but what? How can you pinpoint the problems in an objective and measurable way so you can take the right corrective steps?

Employee alignment is the key. We can help you align staff talents and attitudes in a precise, results-oriented way that is appropriate for your organization's unique culture. We're not talking about forcing people to march in "lock step" or abandoning individual initiative. Rather, it's about a shared commitment to teamwork and achieving common goals that fit your overall organization's mission.
